

NEW POLICY ADOPTED BY COUNCIL FOR EXTENSION OF WATER MAINS INTO AREAS UNDER DEVELOPMENT; EFFECTIVE NOW

Developers Will Pay Costs Without Reimbursement From Borough — Mains Must Be in Accordance With Borough's Specifications and Dedicated to Borough After Installations.

In brief remarks made by Burgess I. J. Hetherington at the opening of borough council, last evening, a new policy of financing extension of water mains into areas under development was announced. The burgess said that for many years it had been the policy of council, through its water committee, to extend water distribution mains into new territory, the developer to advance the money which later would be returned to him, after the water income from the project reached a certain percentage of the cost.

The burgess stated that in this way there was the possibility of the purchaser of houses in a project, paying the cost of the main extension in the purchase price of the house thus resulting in the developer being paid twice for the extensions. To obviate this the burgess in conference with the water committee agreed upon the policy to be in effect hereafter, which requires that the developer pay the cost without any reimbursement from the borough. The mains, however, are to be according to borough specifications and are to be dedicated to the borough. He said the borough paid out $13,818 during the past year for main extensions. According to the burgess the Bloomsdale Estates were the first to agree to new policy through its representative, Francis J. Byers.

"Increased water supply is in prospect for this year," said the burgess. He suggested that developers be requested to install water meters which would result in insuring more water and a protection against scarcity.

The question of sewers was dwelt upon by the burgess and he said that in his opinion the borough should "bend backwards" to aid industry because they are the employer of people in the community. He told of attending many meetings and of the many meetings held by the various committees of council.

The five-star General surveyed the situation in western Korea from the south bank of the Han despite pleas of his subordinates that he get back out of the danger area.

He declared himself well satisfied with progress of the war saying: "Real estate is a secondary issue. I think we have enough manpower to hold them while inflicting the greatest amount of casualties."

The general braved artillery and

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

The State Department, without indicating its own view, said it was consulting other Governments on what to do about crossing the Parallel. Britain, Prime Minister Attlee told the Commons, is still hopeful of negotiating with Communist China and therefore opposes sanctions against Peiping now or advancing into North Korea without full consultation.

President Truman asked Congress to vote funds immediately for 1,000,000 tons of grain for India as a gift and to authorize 1,000,000 tons more to be sent if needed. India had asked a long-term credit to buy 2,000,000 tons to avert starvation.

Chancellor Adenauer, accepting a Socialist proposal, will ask the Big Four to stage free elections for an all-German parliament. Communists plan to press for a German peace treaty this year.

The pace of Canada's mobilization to the status of a major partner in defense of the West and as an arsenal of democracy has accelerated, a survey by the New York Times shows. The Dominion's new-found oil and mineral supplies will greatly strengthen the North Atlantic community.

BY HIGH OFFICIALS

The United States Steel Corporation plans official ground breaking ceremonies for the new Fairless plant in Falls Township on Thursday, March 1st. Representatives of government, industry, press and radio have been invited to attend.

The United States Steel Company, newly organized by the United States Steel Corporation to build and operate the plant, has sent invitations to officials in Washington, Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

Many of the principal corporation and subsidiary executives will be present, as will a large number of representatives of companies with which business relations are conducted.

It was estimated informally that nearly 600 persons will attend.

Special trains will be run from New York and Washington. They will go directly to the mill site on the new branch track just built from the Pennsylvania Railroad main line. Arrival time is shortly before noon.

Directional signs will be placed on highways in the Trenton area for those coming by car.

Several large tents will be erected and weather-protected on the site for a luncheon, speech-making and a steel products exhibition.

The program will start about noon. Trains will return to New York and Washington at about 3:30 p. m.

March 1 is the day on which the steel company's title to the 3,800-acre mill tract will be fully cleared with former property owners.

Construction work is scheduled to start promptly that day with ground clearing, foundations, flooring, roads, tracks and sewer lines to be started by several contractors.

It is planned to hurry the plant to completion by the end of 1952 as a national defense production unit. Some products will be coming out by the end of this year.

BOROUGH COUNCIL FIXES TAX RATE AT 16 MILLS, THE SAME AS IT WAS DURING THE PAST YEAR; TENTATIVE BUDGET PRESENTED AND TO BE ON VIEW

THIS COCKEYED WORLD

The world is cockeyed. In this country, civilian defense is booming. The average citizen is bored; but there are air-raid alerts, rehearsals for disaster, much discussion of huge stores of costly equipment.

Yet this country is thousands of miles from any potential enemy. On the European continent, where if there is danger, it hangs heavy and close, reports say there are virtually no preparations for bombings. England appears content to stand pat on her air-raid shelters remaining from the last war, although now it is A-bombs instead of block-busters which must be anticipated.

On our own homefront, thinking runs along certain well-channelled lines. We are told we must re-arm, must set up universal military training, must slash civilian production, must prepare to surrender our rights and liberties to avoid being crushed by foreign foes.

But it is out of line for anyone to ask where the armaments are that Congress appropriated fifty billions of dollars to build, since the war. It is considered disturbing to unity to seek to find out what became of the arms left over from that war — who destroyed them, and why.

The self-professed statesmen tell us it is urgent that our armies be increased. Yet, while the dickering goes on over the eighteen-year-old end of the draft, thousands upon thousands of reservists and others remain uncalled, and the draft itself is running in the lowest gear.

Congress and the President quarrel over which of them has the right to send troops to Europe. But on the

The same tax rate of 16 mills which prevailed during 1950 in Bristol Borough will be in effect during 1951, if the tax ordinance which was placed on first reading, last evening, by borough council, is finally adopted at the March session.

It was announced that the tentative budget will be on view in the office of the borough secretary, John Paglione, municipal building, for the next 10 days. The budget was not read last evening but George Duffy, chairman of finance committee, stated that it had been approved by the finance committee and the various committees of council.

Two councilmen were absent, John H. Wichser, who is away, and Richard T. Myers, who is hospitalized.

The council session opened with the invocation by the Rev. Andrew J. Solla, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Our Saviour.

President of council, John Smoyer, III, read a note received from Mr. Myers expressing appreciation for the many notes of kindnesses and expression of sympathy received from his council colleagues.

Nicholas Pasquale, reporting for the health and sanitation committee, informed of some changes made in the pay rates of an employee at the sewer plant, whereby when he works on a job part-time he will receive the same rate of pay as other men receive for the same work. Council approved.

LESS WON'T DO

Here is an objective judgment on a question of great concern to every American. Four prominent economists, now at work on a Twentieth Century Fund study of economic mobilization problems, are agreed that it is within the capacity of the United States to reach its defense goals and still raise its living standard.

Of course their statement is that this can be done "if" certain prerequisites are met as the need for them arises. For example, they call it possible if the federal government follows "a realistic program of economic mobilization."
In also urging Americans generally to accept personal sacrifices and reduce consumption during the early stages of rearmament, they recognize that public cooperation is necessary. And they see that groups as well as individuals must give up trying to advance their conflicting interests.

But it is important to have it said by these experts that the nation can have both guns and butter if the problem is competently handled. That kind of assurance sounds too good to be true when it comes from official quarters. It's much more convincing when it's presented on the authority of Professors Schultz of Chicago, Smithies of Harvard, Clark of Columbia and Wallace of Princeton. When they say it's feasible they make it worth a struggle.

The committee, for example, lists pay-as-we-go taxation as one immediate need if the government's stabilization efforts are to succeed. That opinion makes it at least a little easier to accept present onerous taxes, although the demand for government economy must succeed to prevent uncalled-for levies.

At the same time the committee's call for a limitation on bank credit is a reminder that the administration needs some urging if the government is to do more than talk a sound economic stabilization program. Credit inflation can undo all the good effects of other measures to promote economic stability.

Inasmuch as the American people can arm and still live well, no excuses for failure will be acceptable.

HELL-BOMB RUMORS

Rumors have been plentiful, since the last of the five nuclear explosions near Las Vegas, Nev., was set off, to the effect that the Nevada explosions were tests of the "trigger" of an H-bomb, the super-super nuclear bomb the United States has been trying to invent. If the trigger—or percussion cap—is so tremendous, what will the hell-bomb itself be like?

The fifth explosion was the world's fourteenth nuclear detonation since the beginning of time.
One of the 14 took place in Russia. The other 13 were set off by the United States. And Russia cannot fail to be impressed by the fact that this country has atomic explosives to burn. There wouldn't be much left of Russia's stockpile (if informed guesses are at all close) after 13 nuclear detonations. And U. S. experiments are still continuing.

"WASHINGTON REPORT"

By FULTON LEWIS, JR.
(Copyright, 1950
King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13—Plans for socializing the nation's economy can't succeed unless and until Fair Deal planners get their hooks into the steel industry.

The bubbleheads are trying it again. But as usual, the steel industry apparently has outsmarted the glib, giveaway dreamers, who this time said we can't win a war unless steel production rises to 120 million tons annually. The only way to do this, they even persuaded the President to hint, was for the Government to get into the steel business.

Without showing signs of being overburdened with dread at the blatant of the economic planners, steel producers pulled the rug from under that one by blandly announcing that construction is already underway for an annual production rate of 118 million tons.
Naturally you don't plan a multi-million steel plant overnight. So what it means is that while the President's economic advisers were dreaming, steel industrialists already had started construction. And they did so without any fuss, fanfare or advice from economists on the public payroll.

One of the major reasons the steel industry keeps a step ahead of the socialistic thinkers on the public payroll is that Benjamin F.
Fairless is still in business. Mr.
Fairless is president of the U. S.
Steel Corporation. He likes a fight.
He doesn't think that socializing steel will cure anything. In fact, everywhere it has been tried there has been disaster. Right now the Socialist British Government is going through the wringer again over nationalization of steel and may not survive the argument.

In a recent speech Mr. Fairless took a hypothetical look at the U. S. through Stalin's eyes to see what instructions he (Stalin) would issue to the Red army of trained termites crawling around the U. S. A.

The first technique naturally would be to fill the labor press with savage attacks on management, then a campaign to convince America that industry is greedy and is trying to throttle little business and the average guy making an average living in this country.

Big business, which is something

America has in abundance, is Stalin's chief target. Mr. Fairless thinks Stalin would decree that big business must be described as inefficient and monopolistic, capable of harming "little people" and endangering security; that, above all else, the public must be taught to hate big business.

One way to do this, Mr. Fairless asserts, is to have it attacked by men who are not Communists but who have been reached by the termites. And he might have added, as Supreme Court Justice Jackson did in New York the other day, that Government anti-trust suits are political clubs to keep anti-administration business in line.
Jackson said anti-trust suits are selected on a political basis, which is one way to run a department of justice. If Jackson is right, and we can only assume he is, then the name ought to be changed to the Department of Political Hatchet Work, since it has nothing to do with justice.

Mr. Fairless seems perfectly capable of taking care of honest criticism directed at U. S. Steel or big business in general. He thinks it is any man's right to criticize, if he does so honestly and is not peddling confusion. But he thinks there are three basic dangers we must guard against in mobilizing against Russia. These are worth repeating here:

1. Guard against over-extending our production, or borrowing ourselves into bankruptcy.
2. A second danger is excessive political interference in the normal channels of production.
3. The third and greatest danger is that the present emergency may last from 15 to 20 years and that during that time the Government will have absolute power over American economic life—including wages, prices, credit and profits—during which time a socialistic state will be an accomplished fact in America but a socialistic economy will not be established. To keep it from becoming one is the obligation Mr. Fairless insists on of us have to bear. If we know the facts we can exercise what Mr.
Fairless labels "termite control."

Child's Eating Problems

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

IN this column I have said that if mothers would let the child feed himself as soon as he is able to do so and could also keep from saying a word about his eating and could keep their own insides serene there would be almost no eating problems. I know this is so, but I'm not always able to convince young mothers that it is.
And even those who believe me in theory don't practice the advice.

The mother has her attention on having the youngster get the proper food, and a sufficient amount of it into his stomach now. She does not realize how he feels as this food is put into him or the effect on his appetite tomorrow, two weeks or two months hence. She does not consider that appetite is chiefly a matter of feeling and that all her unpleasant emotions over his eating reduces his appetite; that, therefore, the more she does or says to force food into him, the less appetite he acquires. But she just can't believe he will ever eat well if she lets him alone and doesn't do something and says something.
Thousands and thousands of mothers could have written the following letter:

A Feeding Problem

"Dear Dr. Myers: My daughter, four and a half years old, has already developed a feeding problem, so I'm sending for your bulletin 'Eating Problems—Their Prevention and Correction,' enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.
"She will not eat her meals unless I feed her and then it takes her at least an hour on her dinner. She has the habit of holding her food in her mouth and dawdles constantly. Although she's perfectly healthy, she never seems to be really hungry.

"I think I could skip a couple of meals and she still wouldn't eat the next meal. I know this because I've tried.
"When I try letting her eat herself, I have to keep urging her on for every bite. I'm at my wit's end and it upsets me so much. I hope you'll be able to help me."
In this mother's self-addressed, stamped envelope I enclosed the bulletin, of course, and wrote her substantially as follows:

A Few Meals

You are wrong. She will eat without your feeding her if you quit feeding her today, tomorrow, the next day and all days thereafter. She might hold out for a few meals, even longer, but when she gets hungry enough, she will eat if you say nothing, look nothing, do nothing, breathe nothing, to annoy her. In case she grows nauseated after choosing to fast for several meals, consult your physician.
Of course, you may not have the "guts" to let her choose no food for two consecutive meals. You say you've tried letting her skip a couple of meals. But you gave up too soon. Her skipping one or two meals might have meant her total victory. Then you say that when you let her feed herself you "have to keep urging her on for every bite." You mean that you do so keep urging her. You have never tried long enough to prove you don't have to keep urging her.
Try it for every meal for a while —a week or two—and you will discover your egotistical error. But she's your baby. If you choose to go on feeding her till she is twenty-one or older, it's your privilege, I suppose. Anyway, I trust that you will let your reason be your guide.

broader question of whether troops should be sent there at all, far less is said, and most of that makes sound and fury rather than sense.

Of the worst peril of all which the American people face, nothing is being done to relieve the danger, despite a great deal of semi-hysterical talk.

That peril is inflation. Everyone concedes that the defense boom has released inflationary pressures far greater than ever known before. Everyone whose opinion means anything concedes that only the most drastic approach offers any promise at all of staying out of the destructive inflationary cycle. Yet the emphasis continues to be on price controls and taxes, which never yet have staved off inflation; and in the matter of non-defense spending by the government, where alone there might be some relief, the President has raised the level of spending, instead of lowering it — and dared Congress to do anything about it.

Inflation continues to be our worst enemy. Russia may never attack us, and if she does, probably we can defeat her. But inflation is here, it is undermining our national security, and if it continues it will do far more damage to the American people than any other disaster which might come along.

If we let inflation continue raging out of hand, it will bankrupt and demoralize the country as nothing else could possibly do. And it will leave us defenseless, if Russia cares to move in and pick up the piece.

Borough Council Fixes Tax Rate at 16 Mills

water mains are to be extended at the cost of the developer and the pipes are to be dedicated to the borough upon installation, and are to be as specified by the borough. Meters are to be installed both in the borough and the township where there are new installations. The meters are also to be paid for by the developer.

Mr. Roche told council that Transite pipe is to be used instead of cast iron pipe which is not available. He asked for authority to advertise for bids for work to be done in the second step of improving and increasing the water plant at the pumping station, involving an estimated expenditure of approximately $70,000. This will involve a new sedimentation tub. The recommendations were approved. James Eagan, chairman of police committee, reported that the committee had received bids for a new police car and that the low bidder was Bristol Ford Agency. He also reported that consideration was being given to improving parking conditions in the sixth ward. Mr. Eagan told council that the police officers had requested a review of their hours of working. He said this would be done and council advised of the findings.

He complimented the police on their law enforcement and the drive on "hot rodders."

Francis Kryven was named to the Police Pension Board to succeed S. Joseph Aita.

The police statistical report reads as follows:

Corner lounging, 10; disorderly conduct, 6; desertion and non-support, 1; delinquent, 1; delinquents, 6; operating automobile while intoxicated, 2.

Held for court, 8; fined, 11; turned over to other authorities, 2; committed to county prison, 5; lodgers sheltered, 156; street lights reported out, 56; doors found unlocked, 6; radio patrol car answer-

It was reported to council by Joseph DeLassio, chairman of street committee, that the sidewalk improvement program would continue. He asked for the co-operation of the public. He said notices will be mailed to the property owners. He asked that the board of health have signs posted along Adams Hollow Creek warning against throwing trash into the creek. The creek is to be cleaned. He also requested an ordinance permitting awarding trash collection contract for a three-year period. He said that this would permit the successful bidder to provide the proper truck. A saving of over $1200 was reported by the street committee from estimated expenditures. The recommendations were approved.

Upon motion of Dennis J. Roche council approved a resolution presented expressing sympathy to the family of the late Joseph P. Duffy, postmaster, and former member of council. The resolution follows:

RESOLUTION
WHEREAS, Joseph P. Duffy, served honorably, efficiently and conscientiously as Postmaster of the Borough of Bristol, from August 1933 until his death, December 30, 1950;

AND WHEREAS, the said Joseph P. Duffy, served in the Borough Council of Bristol Borough from 1918 to 1925;

AND WHEREAS, during his service as a Councilman he gave untiringly and unstintingly of his time and efforts in behalf of the residents of the Fourth Ward of Bristol Borough, whom he represented;

AND WHEREAS, the Borough of Bristol has suffered a severe loss in the untimely death of Joseph P. Duffy;

AND WHEREAS, his judgment and knowledge of Borough affairs during his term in Council were recognized as being intelligent, fair and of great value to the Community;

WE HEREBY WISH to place on record our appreciation of his sincere desire to be of service to the Community during the seven years that he was a member of this body. He served without complaint and was always ready and willing to join with us in any endeavor to solve the many problems confronting a body of this character and although he led a busy life he never objected when asked to meet for the purpose of considering the business before Borough Council.

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that we hereby express our deep sense of the loss which this body, residents of the Fourth Ward and residents of the Borough have sustained by the death of Joseph P. Duffy, and we extend to his family our heartfelt sympathy and invoke for them divine guidance and aid in this hour of their bereavement.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that a copy of this resolution be signed by the Officers of Council and spread upon the minutes of Council and a copy forwarded to the family of the deceased.

RESOLVED this 12th day of February, A. D. 1951.

BOROUGH OF BRISTOL.
By: JOHN SMOYER, III,
President of Council.

Attest:
JOHN G. PAGLIONE,
Secretary.

APPROVED this 12th day of February, 1951.

I. J. HETHERINGTON, Sr., Burgess of the Borough of Bristol.

Dennis J. Roche and James Eagan were named a committee to draft a resolution of sympathy in the death of Joseph H. Foster, fourth ward member of borough council, who died recently. The motion was offered by Eagan.

Upon motion of Dennis J. Roche council named William J. McHugh as a member of council to succeed the late Joseph H. Foster, councilman from Fourth ward. Mr. McHugh is a resident of Corson street, is a sheet metal worker. He has resided here for many years.

Council, at the request of James Eagan, went on record as being opposed to a proposed bill in the Legislature which would wipe out the office of justice of peace and succeed them with a magistrate. One perhaps for the entire county or perhaps the borough, imposing an additional expense of $5,000 annually. It was stated.

Congratulations were extended to Penn Realty Company for improving the property at Mill street and old Route 13. The tax ordinance provides for a tax rate of 16 mills, of which 13 are to be for general borough purposes and three mills for debt purposes. If the ordinance is adopted at the next meeting council will have succeeded in holding last year's rate.

Justice of Peace Anthony Niccol forwarded a check for $160 for fines collected for violations in the borough, stating that a check for an equal amount had been sent to the state for those fines, which under the law have to be remitted to the state. This makes the fines total $320.

President of Council Smoyer expressed pleasure over the fact that the police are endeavoring to break-up corner lounging and that an effort is being made to put teeth into the plumbing code.

He also congratulated the water committee on the progress it had made in its plan.

A note of appreciation was received from Mrs. Joseph H. Foster and son for sympathy on the part of councilmen at the time of the death of Mr. Foster.

Civic Ass'n Wars On Trash Dumps

Commissioner Stutz by ordinance in hand, which was enacted by supervisors of the second class township. It has been found on different occasions that most of this dumping has been done by non-residents of Bristol Township. Persons ride through the township and throw their garbage and trash out the windows of their cars. Mr. Owsiak noted that in addition to these two authorized public dumps in the Township, numerous other dumping areas were being used for disposal of trash, garbage, etc. In all of these areas, fires develop which cause quite a smoke hazard and affect the health and well being of the residents, as well as causing considerable depreciation in property value. It is believed that since two public dumps have been authorized, these should be utilized rather than permitting other minor individual dumps which detract from the beauty of the Township. Mr. Owsiak was instructed by the body to contact the commissioners and present his report.

The chairman of the safety committee, J. Howard Bintliff, was given authority to consult with the commissioners of the township on violations, creating walking hazards on Cedar Avenue, Croydon, and other areas of Bristol Township.

Warren Jennings suggested that a planning committee be considered to work with the commissioners on problems such as zoning.

Mr. Jennings was forced to resign as chairman of the highways committee due to hospital committee activities and consideration was given to the appointment of a new chairman. Mr. A. C. Smith suggested that the three fire chiefs of the township be asked to serve as members of the highway committee due to their knowledge of the highways and roads throughout the township.

Edgely Fire Company To Purchase New Fire Truck

Within the next week Edgely Fire Company Number 1 will order a new triple combination fire apparatus. It will be a pumper-type truck capable of pumping 750 gallons of water per minute. It will also carry a "booster" tank with at least a 300-gallon capacity of water for use at fires in areas not adjacent to fire hydrants.

Two separate "booster" reels will each have at least 150 feet of 3/4" hose with fog and straight nozzles. The truck will carry a minimum of 1200 feet of 2 1/2" fire hose and 500 feet of 1 1/2" hose.

Ladder equipment will be capable of reaching at least a three-story structure. Other necessary fire equipment such as hooks, axes, Indian tanks (for field fire work), gas masks, rope, and two dry powder extinguishers will be part of this apparatus.

The truck can be used to relay water with other equipment or it can pump water through three 2 1/2" hose lines laid from the apparatus to a fire within normal accessible distance. Also, due to the rural area serviced by Edgely Fire Company Number 1, an extra length of hose for drafting or drawing water from creeks or ponds will be on the apparatus to permit a 20 foot draft distance.

For the next six weeks volunteers from the Edgely Company will be making a house to house canvass of East Bristol Township, asking the residents to help them in raising funds for the purchase of this new apparatus.

Planning Ahead

In the 466 Bell Telephone central offices in Pennsylvania we handled more than 218,000,000 calls last year.

How many calls will we handle this year and the year after? This, you might say, is anybody's guess. But it's our business to know, within reasonable limits, what the volume will be for each central office. Skilled traffic engineers make these forecasts and plan for the installation of new switchboard equipment to meet the anticipated needs of each community.

It takes good people, working with good equipment, to give you good telephone service. And good telephone service is essential to the nation's need in these critical times, as well as to the daily needs of millions of people.

aboard MacArthur's C-47 between Kimpoo airport and Suwon.

Neither minimized the gravity of the situation on the central front but each expressed confidence that the Eighth Army could handle the sudden emergency.

Ridgway told the supreme commander that the enemy launched a "full scale attack" and said the Reds were utilizing shock troop spearheads of a 120,000 troop force in the initial thrust.

Each appeared calm despite the urgency of the hour while mapping plans to contain the Chinese onslaught.

MacArthur had high praise for Ridgway's conduct of the Seoul offensive stressing his imaginative use of artillery.

The observation post which MacArthur visited on the south bank of the Han was smacked with a heavy mortar barrage just before MacArthur's arrival, but the pipe-smoking general brushed off queries whether it would affect his schedule.

He said:

"Of course not."
A machine-gunner manning a nearby weapon marvelled at the general's determination and disclosed that the post had received 18 rounds of mortar fire shortly before the general's arrival.

The machine-gunner said: "And we messaged back that it was still hot up here."

MacArthur was wearing a G. I. hat with earflaps and was protected from the cold by a blue auto robe. He was roundly cheered by Turkish troops during a visit to a shell-shattered village near the front lines where he met Turkish General Yacici.

MacArthur asked Yacici the current Turkish strength and was told the Turks were getting replacements. He replied:

"I am delighted to see you getting replacements and know that the men you have now must have accounted for at least one Chinese apiece."

The Turk laughed and replied: "At least one apiece and we are ready to get some more."

The Turk general presented MacArthur with a brilliant red Turkish flag with a white star in the center and asked if the American general would accept the flag as a gift from the brigade.

MacArthur looked the general in the eye and then dramatically kissed the flag as a symbol of his respect of Turkish gallantry while a battalion of Turks standing at attention with fixed bayonets broke into cheers.

MacArthur told Yacici: "I take pride in reports we get in Tokyo about the Turks. They are calling the Turks the Bee-Bee Brigade—the Bravest of the Brave."

He added: "I will drape this flag around a picture of Ataturk which I have in my study."

The Turkish general told MacArthur his bayonet-wielding troops will "try to live up to your praise as fighting men for the United Nations."

A Complexion Care Program

Cleanliness is the most important part of any complexion care program. To do a good job, wash your face thoroughly, then apply cleansing cream.

By HELEN FOLLETT

YOUR good-looks reporter hopes that her readers will forgive her for divulging a fact that is not flattering to the universal sisterhood, and that is that many feminine faces are downright untidy, which is putting it mildly.

The woman who washes her face at bedtime with soap and water, then applies a cream, is doing a duty that is necessary for skin health. Then, in the morning, she gives her map a cold rinsing, and that's all right. What else does she do in the way of hygienic measures? Probably nothing at all. And what does she do that is harmful to her complexion?

In the Morning
She lays on the high lights in the morning-powder, rouge, lipstick—and, during the day, she patches it up with dabs and dabs, often with a soiled powder pad

BRISTOL JUNIORS WIN 11TH GAME IN LEAGUE TILT

The undefeated Bristol Junior High team captured its eleventh straight win yesterday afternoon as it downed Neshaminy Junior High in a Lower Bucks County League contest on the Rohm and Haas court. Final score was 29-19.

Bristol was slow in getting started, being blanked in the first session and for two minutes of the second period. It also failed to register a point. But then Coach Ben Watson's proteges went to work and soon overcame the 6-0 deficit. Neshaminy had built up.

"Buddy" Loud started the scoring for the Watson-coached team and Dick Crosby followed with a pair of double-deckers which knotted the count at 6-6. Manzo scored twice and Crosby again shook the cords with fielders so that Bristol had a 12-6 lead. Before the half was over, Bristol had a 14-7 edge.

In the third period, Crosby scored five times from the field and along with 3 points by Manzo and a two-pointer by Loud, the locals had a 29-12 lead as Neshaminy made but five points in the third session.

Fast-breaking accounted for many of the Bristol field goals once they found the range of the nets. Loud played a fine defensive game as well as giving off some nice passes.

BRISTOL TO CLASH WITH BENSALEM IN FRAY HERE

With both teams having five-game losing streaks, Bristol High will clash with Bensalem Township High tonight on the home court in a Lower Bucks County League fray. The opening game, between the junior varsity teams of the schools, will begin at 7:30 o'clock. The game will mark Bristol's final opportunity of retaining the Lower Bucks crown. The Warriors have won two games and lost the same number. Bensalem is unbeaten in three tilts. Bristol must win tonight and also beat Morrisville to have any hope at all. Bensalem can assure itself of at least a tie in the loop by beating Bristol.

Both the Owls and Warriors are having poor seasons. Bristol has won but two games out of 17 while Bensalem has six wins and eight losses. The Bensalem boys were having a fine year until they started to sulk.

Coach Jerry Bloom, of Bristol, will depend on Frank Lucenti, Andy Accardi, Charlie Ranch, Raul Stevens, and Dick Pachino as the starting quintet to pull his team from its losing skid.

Coach "Johnny" Messinger will use Johnny Bowman, Al Bader, Alex Martin, Walt Smith, and Bob Whitfield as his starting team. Bader injured his ankle against George Schools but feels that it is in good enough condition to play. In the preliminary game, Coach Arnold Ody's Bensalem Jayvees seek revenge on the defeat handed them early in the season by Coach Anthony D'Angelo's minions.

U. S. Army Air Forces Opens Its Enlistments

"The sending of the first Air Force volunteers from Philadelphia to the new Air Force training base, Sampson Air Force Base, Geneva, N. Y., on Jan. 31 started an increase in the acceptance of volunteers for the Air Force," S/Sgt. Charles F. Kinsey of the Army and Air Force Recruiting Station here at the Municipal Building, Bristol, Pa., announced today. Young men who are interested in volunteering for the Air Force are invited to get in touch with Sgt. Kinsey (Bristol 811) at the recruiting station here between 8:30 a. m. and five p. m.

The Army, critically short of female officers for its WAC expansion program, has extended its deadline on applications for direct commissions to April 2nd of this year. This singular opportunity to become a Regular Army officer is open to all qualified female college graduates between the ages of 21 and 27, as well as those who expect to graduate this June.

BRISTOL VARSITY IS DEFEATED BY NESHAMINY

The Neshaminy High team conquered Bristol Varsity, 41-38, yesterday on the Rohm and Haas floor.

Good shooting from the foul mark gave the Redskins the victory. Bristol Jayvees outscored their foe from the floor but Coach "Jim" Egli's boys made a fine average from the gift line, sinking 11 of their sixteen shots.

Bristol made a gallant rally in the last period but the Neshaminy team had too much of a margin to overcome. Going into the finale, Coach Anthony D'Angelo's team was trailing, 31-25. It scored 12 points in the last session while holding the ultimate winners to 8.

Firman Lex was high scorer for Neshaminy with 12 points while Jack Rowe and Bob Stroble combined to give Bristol 27 points.
